

ASSIGNMENT-1 REPORT

Project Title: RAPID RHYTHMS DANCE ACADEMY (INTERACTIVE WEBSITE)

Submitted by: Navneet Kaur(2019CSC1028), Manya Mittal (2019CSC1047)

INTRODUCTION

The following documentation is a project report for a given assignment. This report is a detailed descriptive text report about the website project in its entirety. The project is an interactive Website (Rapid Rhythms a dance academy website) created by Undergraduate students which fulfills all the basic requirements of the website.

“NO TEMPLATE HAS BEEN USED FOR THIS PROJECT”

REQUIREMENT ANALYSIS

The project inculcates all the credentials of a basic website such as user can learn about our academy. Various events and programs organized by us around the globe and they can learn about our professional dancers and their achievements. They can register with us as a student in order to learn new dance forms or can work with us as a teacher to teach other students.

This project also required a different database structure which stores the information for the registration of the students and for the blogs published by the users of the website.

DESIGN ANALYSIS

The system (software) requirement specifications for the project is any text editor (Microsoft VS-code is used in this case), any web browser like Google Chrome and Microsoft Edge, a web server (XAMPP and Microsoft VS-code live server used in this case) and sufficient knowledge of the languages like HTML, CSS, JavaScript, PHP, JSON for the functioning of the website and frameworks like

- Bootstrap for making the site responsive.
- JQuery for providing functionality to the website in an effective manner.
- Lity for viewing the images and videos in a better way.
- Animate.CSS, VOV.CSS and animista for animating various elements of the website.
- Font Awesome for adding icons to the website.

The pictures, background images, videos, font styles and icons incorporated in the website also play an important part in defining the overall architecture of the website.

IMPLEMENTATION

With inputs from the system designs, the system is developed in small codes called units, which are integrated in the next phase.

The base design of the website has been curated using the self-written HTML and CSS codes respectively. Some additional use of BOOTSTRAP has been done to make the website more beautiful and attractive and most importantly RESPONSIVE.

The main language which provides all the functionality to this website is JavaScript, JSON and very well known JavaScript framework JQuery which enhances the overall functionality of the website. As this website needed to be dynamic and also needed some database connection, JSON and PHPMyAdmin was used to make all this happen.

ANIMATIONS are also incorporated in the website for making it more attractive. For animations frameworks like vov.css, animista and animate.css has been used.

Icons available on FONT AWESOME ICONS have been used.

Some GOOGLE FONTS are also incorporated in the website for the styling purpose.

Google Maps are incorporated to show the academy location to the user.

JQuery framework Lity is used to let user have a better view of the images and videos inculcated in the website.

The code for developing the website was written in Microsoft VS-Code and was tested on Google Chrome.

INTEGRATION AND TESTING

All the units developed in the implementation phase were integrated into the system only after the proper testing of each unit separately. Post integration, the whole system was tested for any faults and failures.

The designed website has gone through constant and thorough testing to ensure best results possible.

This project has gone through all available modes of testing including user testing by a certain number of users. The student has done her best to make the site as responsive and dynamic as she can and to include as many functionalities possible in the given time frame.

Although the website is tried and tested on various devices but there still might be some layout discrepancy, so please try to test view the website on a desktop device.

SUBMISSION

The website project is submitted on the college portal as instructed by the teacher with all the files and databases and also the output screenshots of the website.

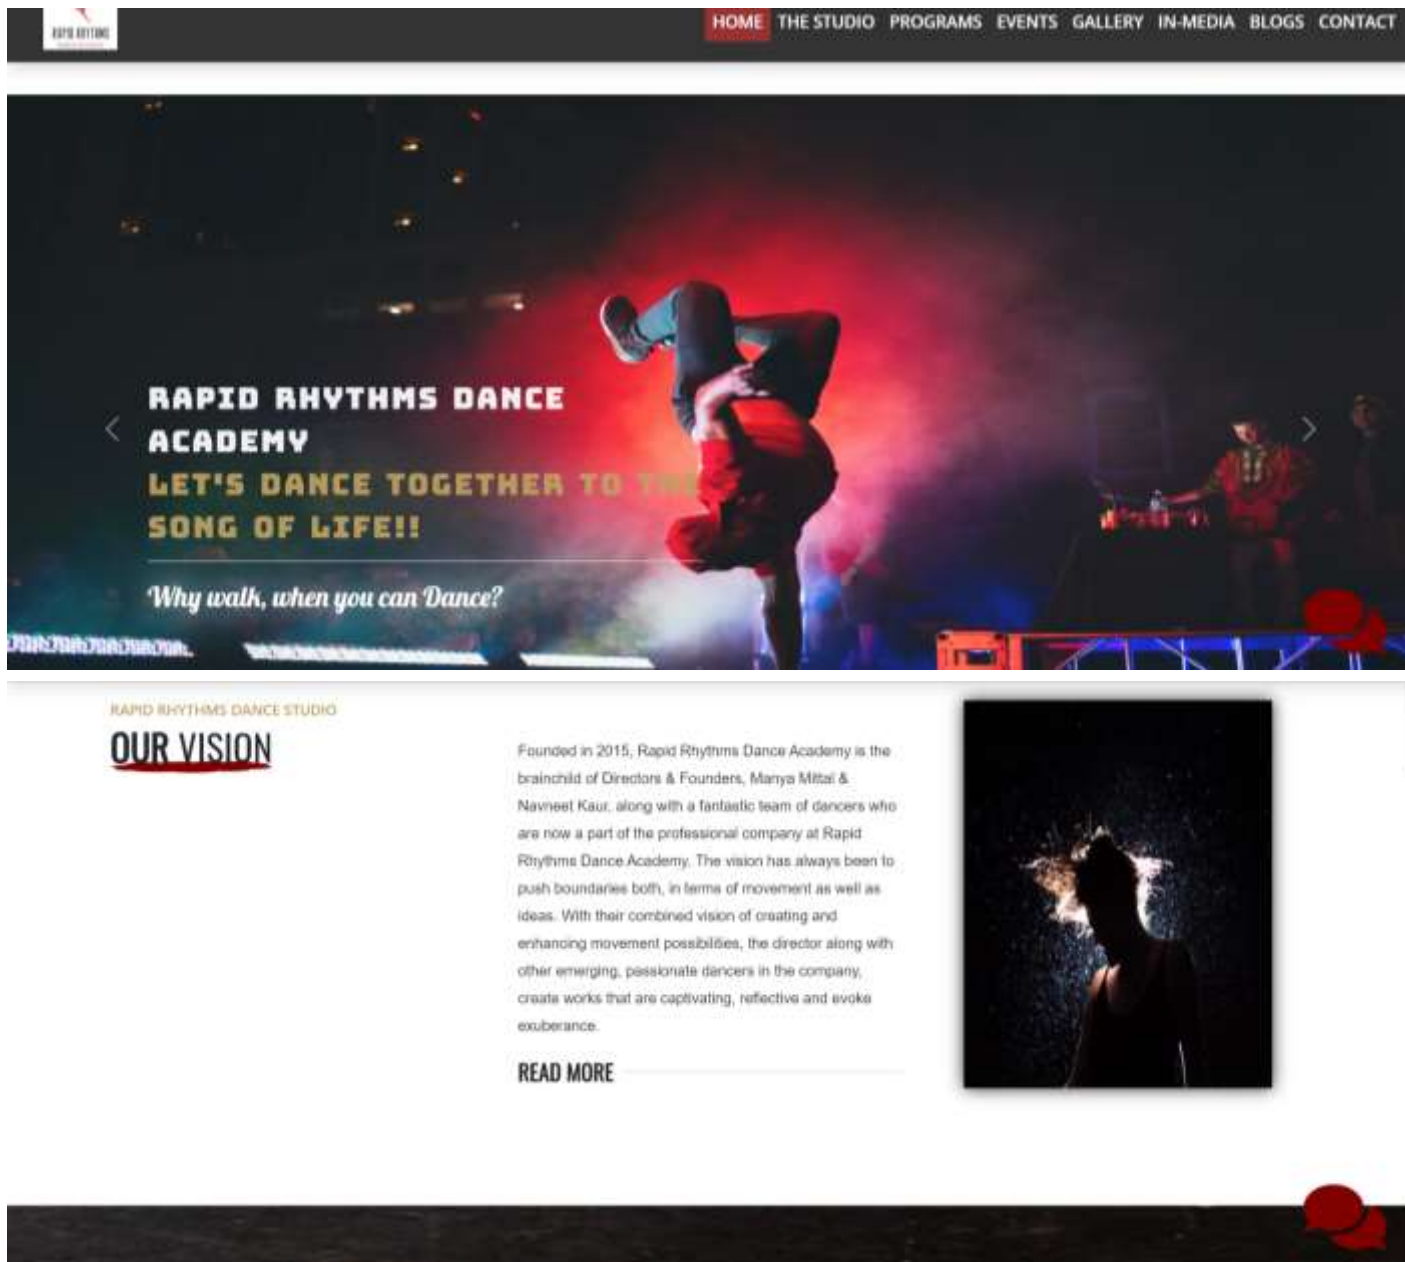

MAINTENANCE

There can be still some errors and issues though paramount care has been taken. To fix the errors and issues please let me know through mail (e-mail id: vkynavneet@gmail.com or manya50401@gmail.com) so that it can be enhanced for better usage and becomes more efficient.

Thankyou

1. Our Vision

Founded in 2015, Rapid Rhythms Dance Academy is the brainchild of Directors & Founders, Manya Mittal & Navneet Kaur, along with a fantastic team of dancers who are now a part of the professional company at Rapid Rhythms Dance Academy. The vision has always been to push boundaries both, in terms of movement as well as ideas. With their combined vision of creating and enhancing movement possibilities, the director along with other emerging, passionate dancers in the company, create works that are captivating, reflective and evoke exuberance. The company loves to work with varied age groups which involve, both, recreational and professional dancers.

It is the director's groundbreaking mix of styles that fosters the company into creating works that are aesthetically fresh, sharp and extremely coherent. Most of the choreographic work created here is definitely rooted in specific techniques, but it also beautifully breaks away from conventional patterns.

Over the years, Rapid Rhythms has remained committed towards providing quality dance education and training. We invest deeply in creative and choreographic development. We welcome you to our dance family, and we are confident that your journey as a dancer might be demanding here, but it certainly is a great step towards achieving your dance goals!

The annual recital is a once-a-year stage gala! It's that time of the year when all our dancers come together to entertain a live audience. In recent years, we have seen a series of some very exciting musicals coming alive and have left our audiences spellbound. . This is a chance for most training dancers to get a hands-off learning experience to deal with props, costumes and to understand the nuances of on-stage and back-stage life as a performer.

Sustaining your dance journey through a crisis

Being a dance studio owner, I am sure many of us are struggling to get through these tough times! Running a dance studio means that one is constantly juggling between creative choreographic commitments, enhancing teaching resources and managing the studio functioning and marketing demands. The Covid-19 pandemic has brought most dance companies and studios to a stand still. Some are gradually resuming, while some have decided to continue with the lock down. At our studio too, the lock down will continue as the health and safety of our students and teachers is primary at this point. I am here to help and share with the dance community, what we have been doing lately with our students at Stance Dance. Let's take a quick review of some of the things that the studio has been doing to maintain the growth of its dancers and making sure that they continue to keep living their passion, even if they cannot physically attend the studio classes.

Offer Online Classes Don't shy away from hosting your studio online. Look at the positives, encourage your students to ask you questions, let them go all out on the screen as there is practically no one dancing next to them and let them know that this is the way to be. Ensure A Personal Presence Do make sure your students are getting the attention and value that they usually get during a studio class, and maybe slightly more. We came up with an extra 15-minute slot to ensure any one who wishes to ask questions in private can log in and use that time to work with their teachers. Keep The Kiddos Motivated! The online classes do offer features such as muting/unmuting that your youngest dancers might find confusing to deal with, Ensure to spend some initial time of their first class getting them used to the idea of why you would need them to be muted and at what times and how, they can unmute to talk to the teacher. Get Creative with Your Dance Space Keep your home-studio environment lively! Just because we are now teaching classes from home doesn't mean that we always have to be in our living rooms. Get creative, and use the morning breeze to inspire you and your students. This is the best opportunity for anyone to teach a class outdoors, or even on your roof top! Get going with a site specific dance routine! Practice Time! Learning choreography through a screen is definitely a new concept for most dancers. Dancers are used to receiving corrections by understanding through touch and sense. During these restrictive teaching times, try to provide your students with some extra practice resources. This will help them to come back more confident in their next online session.
